South Australia Lockdown Announcement

Dear Member,

The South Australian Premier has announced a six-day 'circuit breaker' lockdown across the state in response to a coronavirus outbreak beginning midnight tonight.

The details of the lockdown can be found here: <https://www.covid-19.sa.gov.au/response>

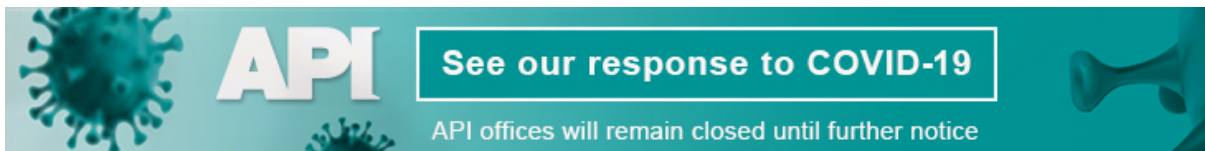

You will note that banking institutions are listed as being allowed to continue operating – however, at this stage the South Australian Government is not able to confirm if all banking services and support services that banks rely on will also be able to continue.

The API are liaising directly with the Premier's office to clarify this for all members' work categories as well as collaborating with industry stakeholders such as the Australian Banking Association to advocate strongly for API members to be able to continue providing essential work for the banking industry in a COVID-safe way. We will update members as soon as possible when future information is available, including updates on the above.

If we are able to have the South Australian Government confirm this work, it is important to familiarise yourself with API COVID-19 protocols available on the hub: <https://www.api.org.au/covid-19-hub/>

Kind regards,

Amelia Hodge
