Introduction

The Professional Conduct Policy (Policy) provides a Complainant the opportunity to bring to the attention of the Australian Property Institute Limited (API) circumstances which may give rise to a finding of Professional Misconduct against an API Member or an Australian Property Institute Valuers Limited (APIV) Member. Similarly, this Policy provides the Chief Executive Officer an opportunity to undertake a Disciplinary Assessment into the conduct of a Member.

Prior to raising a Professional Review and/or undertaking a Disciplinary Assessment, it is expected that the Member be given an opportunity to address the conduct which is of concern.

Once a Professional Review has been raised with the API or a Disciplinary Assessment is initiated by the API, the API appointed Professional Conduct Officer will undertake a preliminary assessment in the first instance, followed by a substantive investigation into the conduct of the Member.

The Professional Conduct Officer will maintain communication with all parties and will remain impartial throughout the process. A Professional Conduct Panel will be formed in accordance with the Professional Conduct Committee Charter, to consider and hear a particular matter. The Professional Conduct Panel will consider all information provided by the Professional Conduct Officer and will make a determination whether there is evidence to establish a finding of Professional Misconduct against a Member.

The API has no authority or Jurisdiction to:

- determine negligence;
- assess the accuracy of a valuation;
- investigate or determine the outcome of a dispute, or difference of opinion between a Complainant and a Member as to the assessed Market Value, Market Rent or any other International Valuation Standards basis of value;
- request an amendment to be made to the report;
- order a Member to provide a refund of fees or reimbursement of professional fees to a Complainant;
- award any form of compensation to any parties subject to a Professional Review;
- investigate a Professional Review raised where legal avenues of redress should be or are being pursued; and
- overturn any decision made by courts, tribunals, other associations or regulator bodies when investigating a Professional Review.

If the alleged Professional Misconduct or the Member who is subject to a Professional Review and/or Disciplinary Assessment, is the subject to current proceedings before a court, tribunal, state licensing body, or other bodies, the API investigation will be suspended pending the outcome of those proceedings and any appeal of those proceedings.

Should you have any queries or feedback regarding this process, please do not hesitate to contact us on 1800 111 274 or write to us at professionalconduct@api.org.au.
